Program Development

- Beginning in August of 2002, The Conference of Major Superiors of Men embarked upon a long-term program of education and accountability, which honors and fulfills the standards set forth by the Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People and applied in the Essential Norms.
- After research by staff for experts in the field to ensure consistent implementation of national standards for accountability, the National Board of the Conference formally endorsed a program in February 2003. It employed the services of Christian Brothers Risk Management Services and its vendor, Praesidium Religious Services, in order to implement the specific goals set forth by our August 2002 Assembly Statement, namely, to have in place:
 - Mechanisms to respond promptly to any allegation of sexual abuse.
 - Independent review boards, either singly or in union with others.
 - Mechanisms of public accountability from outside the leadership of institutes.
 - Educational programs for the protection of children and the prevention of abuse.
 - More effective methods of intervention, care, treatment and follow-up supervision of members in need of this care.
 - Programs of healing, reconciliation and wellness for all those affected by sexual abuse through dialogue with appropriate groups.
- A program of large-scale organizational change was begun in August of 2003 at our National Assembly in Louisville, Kentucky. It is entitled, Instruments of Hope and Healing.
- In August 2004, the educational component of this program was completed. There are 209 religious institutes, societies of apostolic life and monasteries who have participated in the Instruments of Hope and Healing Program and are now seeking accreditation.
